

2012: We've Only Just Begun

As NTLP enters 2012, it is with great excitement and anticipation. The staff wrapped up the tour of libraries and met many hardworking librarians around the state. Great ideas were shared and now the NTLP staff and Partner Advisory Committee will begin turning the ideas into realities. Please remember that this dialogue is always open and we want to continue hearing from you with new trends and suggestions. It is difficult to think differently from traditional System services, but there are no limits – all ideas are welcome.

A few updates to keep in mind:

- NTLP is releasing CE events with discounts for Partner libraries.
- NTLP is at the end of the bid process and will release Partner only vendor discounts soon!
- It seems like a long way from now, but the NTLP Annual Meeting will be August 23rd from 10 – noon. Location TBA
- Various NTLP staff will be attending ALA Mid-winter in Dallas, if you would like to visit about NTLP partnerships, please contact Carolyn Brewer at cbrewer@ntrls.org.

This next calendar year is full of hope and determination for NTLP. This is a dynamic time in the library world and NTLP is set to be a leader organization bringing libraries from around the state and nation together to strengthen libraries for everyone. Check the webpage often for new information.
